

Chinese Online Learning Platform for NCS Students

While the pandemic keeps spreading in this day and age, the learning progress of our students is slightly affected and getting more and more concern. Given this worrying situation, our school takes advantage of the funding and co-operates with RainbowOne by establishing a Chinese online learning platform for P.1 and P.2 NCS students. Students can therefore learn Chinese effectively at home.

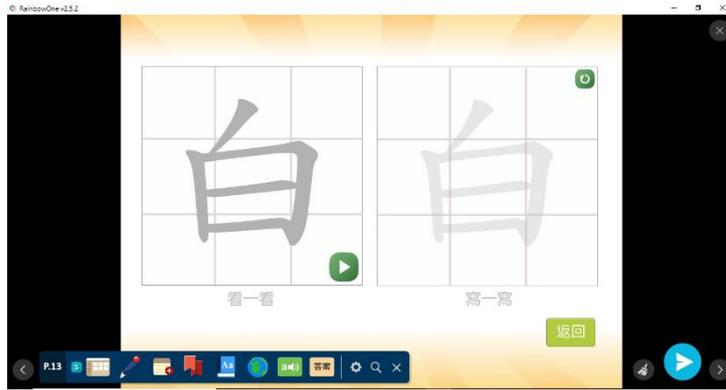

Without doubt, the Chinese online learning platform demonstrates a new way of how to learn Chinese interestingly. Not only does it improve the interaction between teachers and students, but also it boosts students' interest in learning and studying efficiency. For example, students can listen to the texts with real-person-recordings and learn about different words by writing them and following the word orders. Besides, numerous means of submission are given. Recording, filling the colours and matching show a sense of flexibility. After their submission, teachers are able to mark the answers and make comments instantly.

Read the text out: texts are read by real-person, with the “Karaoke mode” which highlights the words for guiding students.

Vocabulary explains with picture: pictures assist students with understanding the meaning.

Multiple ways of submission: students can finish their assignments by matching and filling the colours.

Our school is eager to develop e-learning in order to keep abreast of the times. By encouraging our students to learn Chinese on the online platform, it is believed that their language ability and foundation are improved. The NCS P.1 and P.2 Chinese online learning platform is still on a trial period, while the scheme will be officially promoted to other forms in the next academic year.

With the promotion of the platform, students are no longer restricted by space and time. And most importantly, they will learn independently while studying Chinese happily.
